SECTION B – Exploring language in context*Text A

Text A is a shortened transcript of a radio interview and a screenshot of the webpage where the interview can be heard, after the original broadcast on Radio 4's morning news programme, Today.

The topic of the interview is whether MyInternSwap, a new website, is giving unpaid work experience opportunities (internships) only to young people from more privileged backgrounds.

Interviewer:

Sarah Montague

Guests:

Nick Simmons, the director and creator of MyInternSwap, a website that organises internship swaps for people aged 16 and above.

Jim Waterson, from social news and entertainment website, BuzzFeed.

Internships for 'slightly bigger elite'

A new website which helps parents swap work experience placements for their children has been criticised for potentially excluding less privileged families.

Nick Simmons: [ ] work experience is crucially important everyone knows it is employers say it our universities say it is (.) and it's not just box ticking on a CV it's also about getting life experience as well (.) and our site is (.) targeting (.) especially young kids (.) 16 17 18 19 year olds (.) they're unqualified a lot of them don't know what to do (.) and just going out and dipping in and out of short term work experience a week even a few days shadowing or (.) observational is er hugely important and those places of course don't exist (.) there's a massive undersupply because unsurprisingly most people most organisations employers are simply not interested in taking on short term (.) er work experience students because it's a hassle [ ]

Sarah Montague: let me bring in Jim Waterson here (.) what do you think about that

Jim Waterson: I think (.) Nick's o operating with a lot of (.) yknow he's a genuine guy trying to sort out a problem which is there is a demand for people with work experience to go into jobs to go off to university [ ] problem is this site is expanding it from a tiny elite to a slightly bigger elite it's moving it from a few people who happen to know someone's dad who can get their son or daughter a job at (.) yknow a week's work experience at a law firm or (.) god forbid at the bbc or even some banks or family judges are even on there (.) to a slightly larger number of people [ ]

Sarah Montague: do you do you recognize that Nick Simmons or you might just say look it's it's the way the world works but it is I think they call it opportunity hoarding

Nick Simmons: [ ] I know it's not very good radio but I think I can agree with most of Jim's sentiment (.) except I think we could be pushing a little further than he's suggesting we can (.) of course we can't engineer extreme social mobility<sup>1</sup> in one in one step (.)

Sarah Montague: // but basically

Nick Simmons: but but we're giving more opportunity

Sarah Montague: // this is middle class people and is it is it lots of private schools on there are you able to tell (.)

Nick Simmons: absolutely not it's completely mixed we're only

Jim Waterson: // there are a substantial number of private schools listed on there there are a lot

Nick Simmons: // there are a substantial number but there are just as many people in from um state funded insti institutions and a as well [ ] I think this er (1) this assumption and just built-in prejudice that everyone seems to have that only work experience with a lawyer or a banker or (.) an engineer is of value is just preposterous and we have people on our site (.) we have seamstresses a boat builder a shopkeeper owner (.) sort of people in what

Sarah Montague: // Jim do you want to say

Nick Simmons: // you'd say are low-value jobs but we say they're valuable to someone and so that

<sup>1</sup>Social mobility: being able to improve your social position. Being able to get a better job, buy a house, etc. if you want to.

Jim Waterson: there's a lot of very powerful people in lots of professions who will be listening to this and every time (.) if you give a week's work experience to the son or daughter of a friend why not think is there someone who wouldn't normally apply someone who wouldn't normally be able to get out there who you could offer it to and maybe go out and they're not necessarily going to be the sort of people with parents who

Nick Simmons: // I'm absolutely with you Jim and they can do that through the site
